

•A writing class of the long ago. These children seem intent upon perfection. Benches like these are rarely found in a classroom today.

A Penmanship lesson

Arithmetic drill

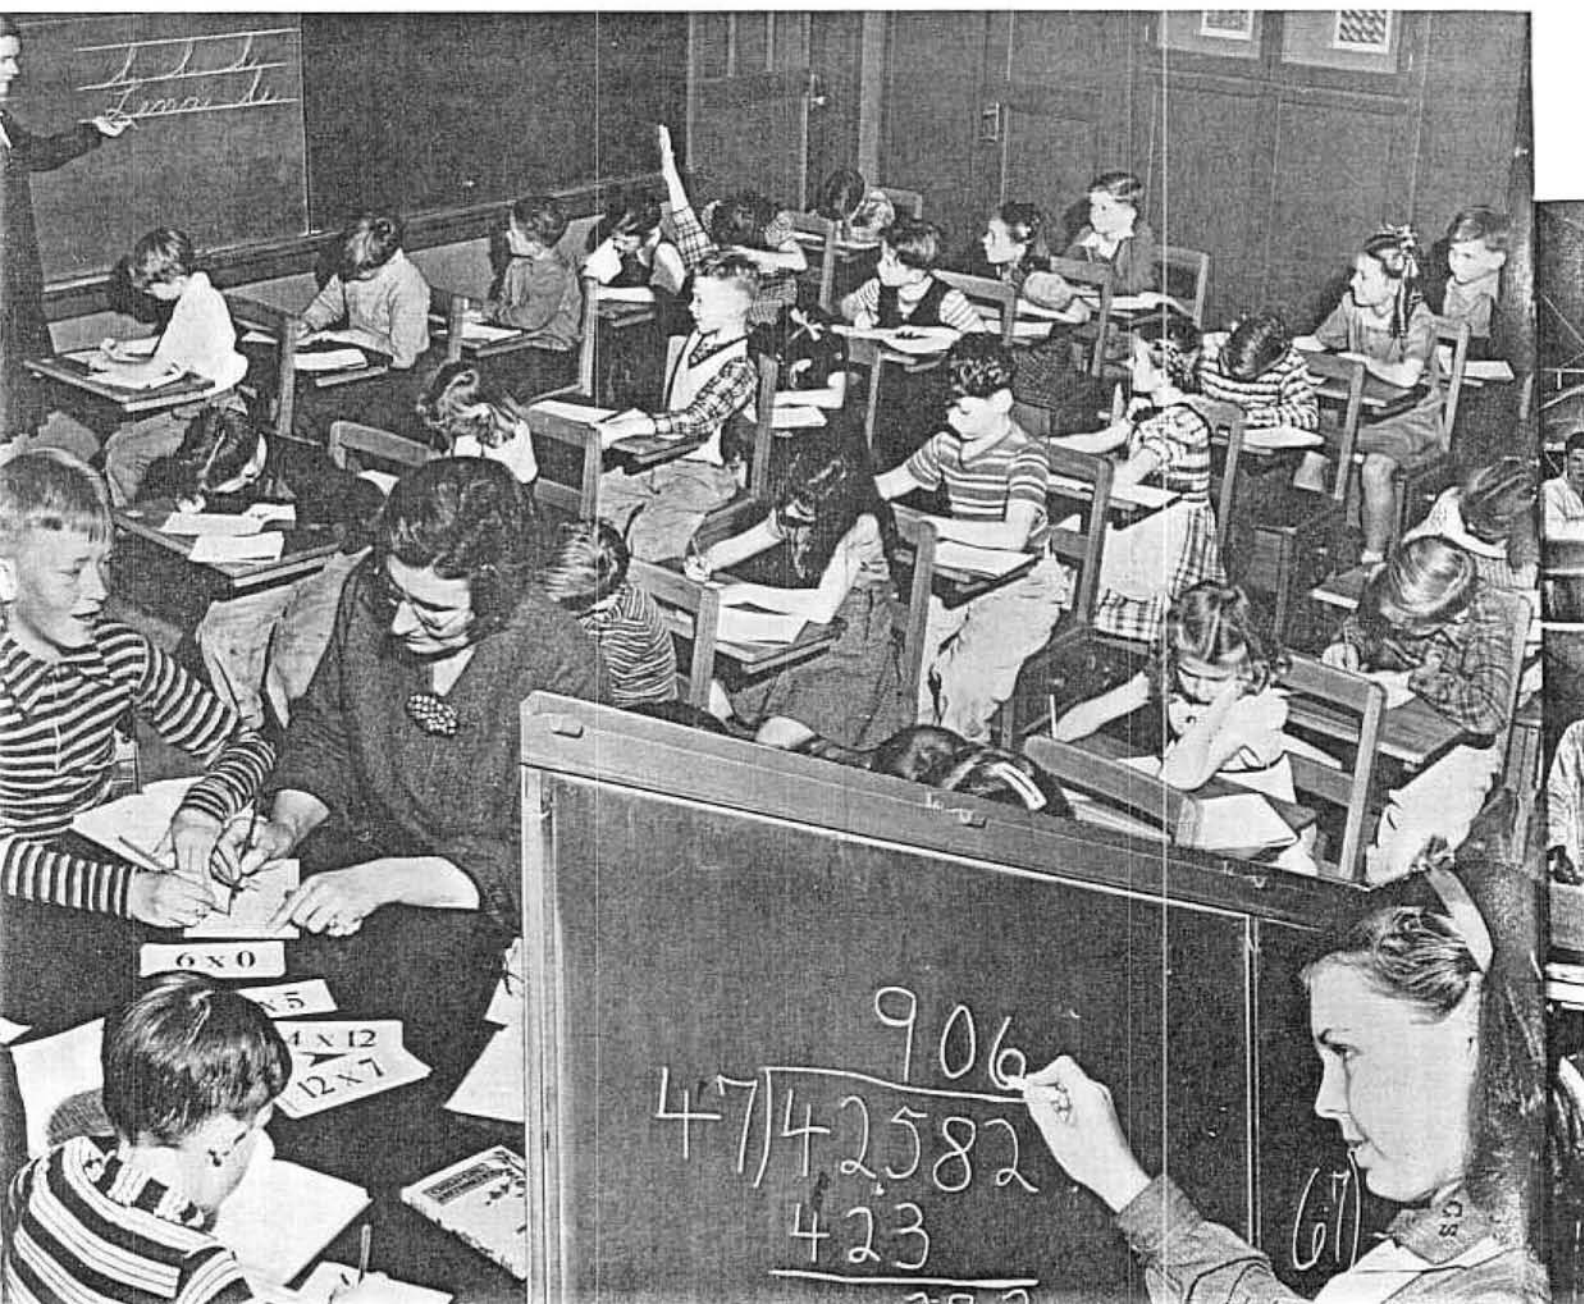

The correct answer

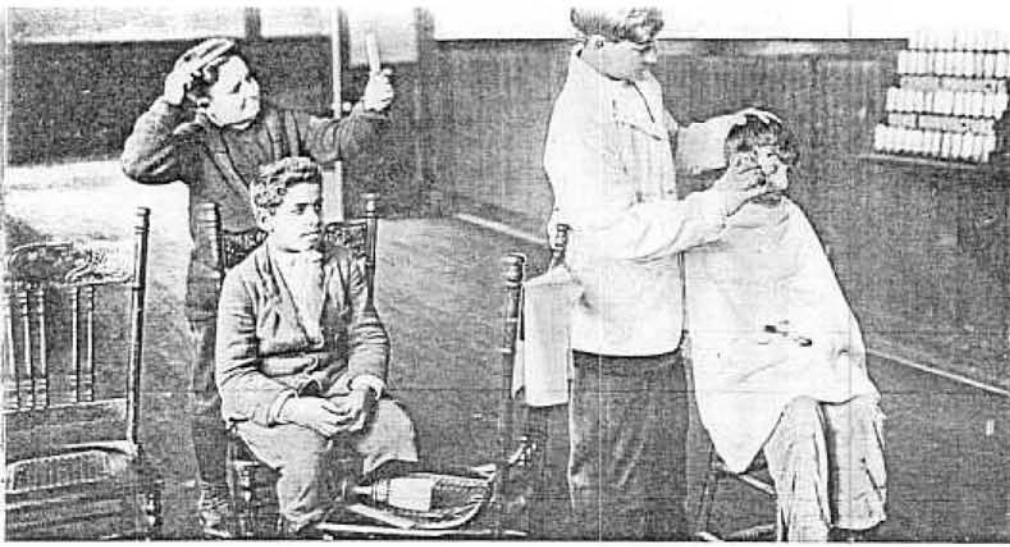

THE THREE "R's"

While it is true that the modern school program is enriched with learning areas and activities not found in the schools twenty-nine years ago, the basic training is not neglected.

With careful planning of the daily schedule, with using better adapted curriculum content materials and improved teaching methods, all essential subject fields are adequately stressed.

(32)

• A class in Barbering pictured in annual report of the superintendent for 1917-18.

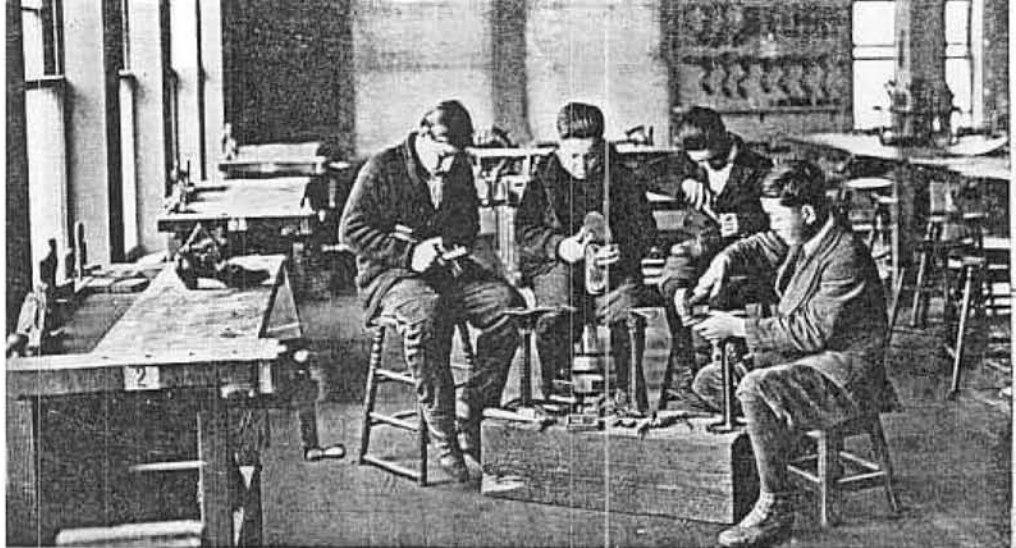

Other Types of OCCUP

Students in training at the Institute of Aeronautics.

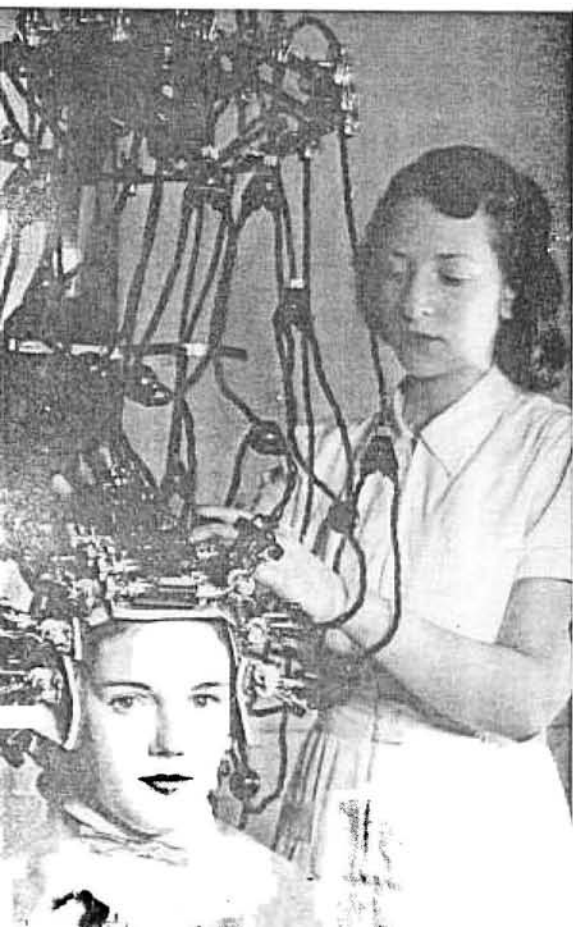

Police Training — future officers of the law.

• Cobbling class in 1917. Practical training of this kind indicates the schools attempted to meet the needs of that day just as is true in the schools of the present.

ATIONAL TRAINING

• The range of occupational training available to Sacramento students, both from the standpoints of terminal courses, and of prerequisite training, is very broad in 1941.

Cosmetology

Mineralogy

HEALTH & SAFETY

- Good Health is a primary objective of education. Safety training, so closely allied with health education, is also a public school responsibility.

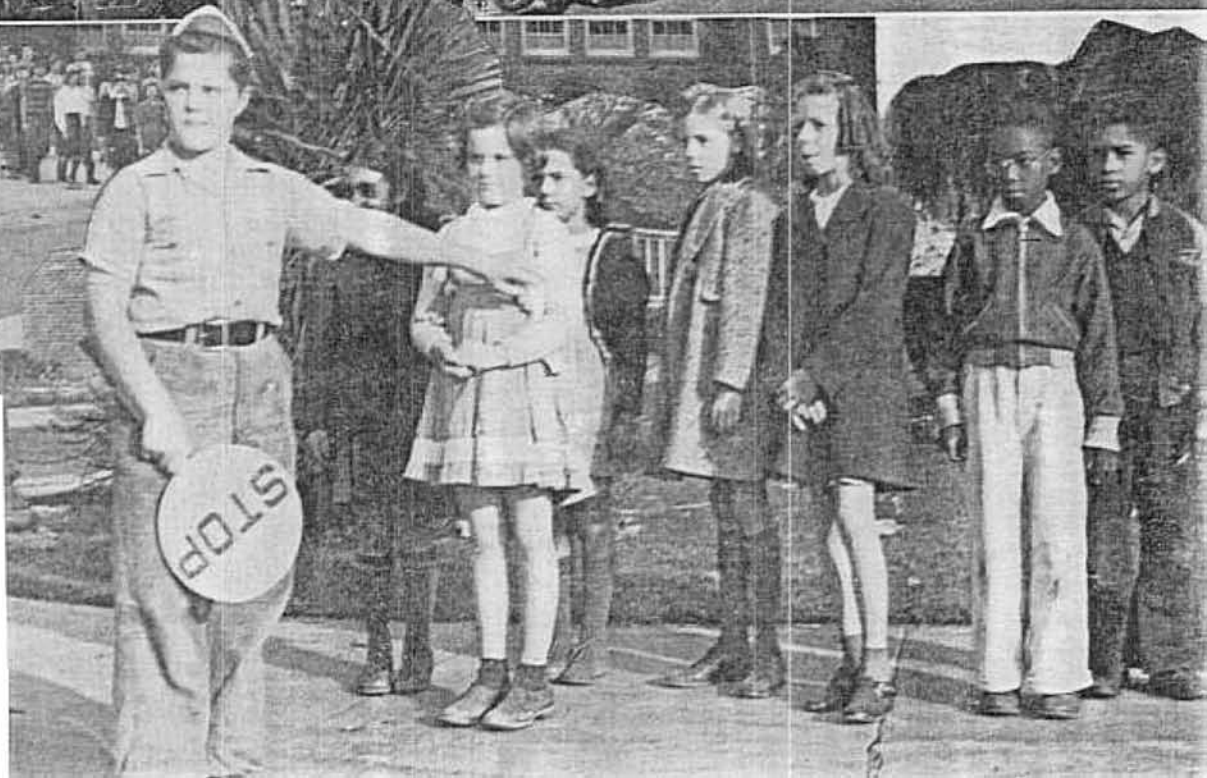

Careful parking is a safety practice at the Junior College.

Each school has fire drills regularly.

Junior Safety Patrols perform an important task.

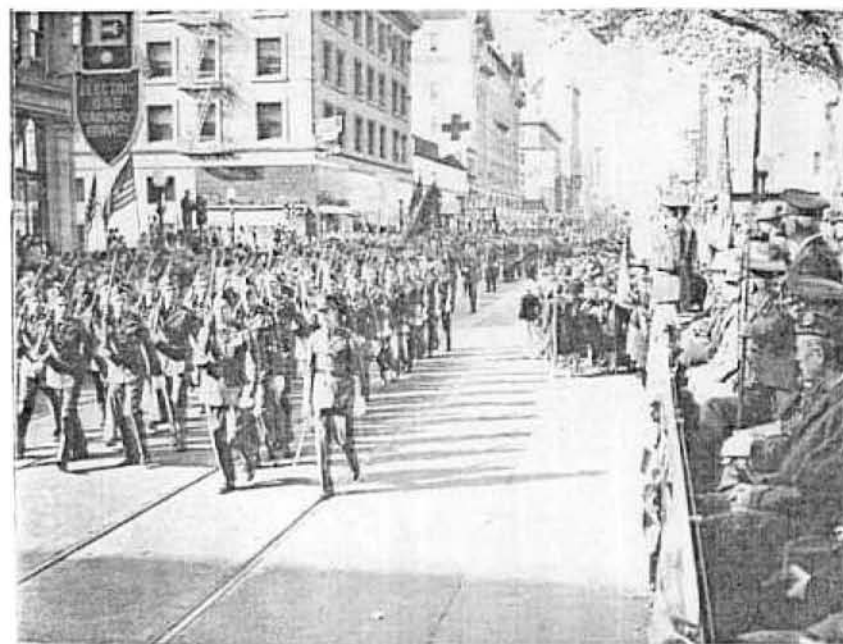

• 1912-13. Sacramento Schools have always stressed good American citizenship. This is Education's major responsibility. It was the first objective then—it is the first objective now.

High school cadets in 1916.
A state unit.

TRAINING & PRACTICE FOR CITIZENSHIP

1940-41

High school cadets
on parade. New U.S.
Reserve Officers
Training Corps.

Hats off, the flag goes by

R.O.T.C. officer unit and girl honorary officers.

Civilian pilot trainees.

• GOOD CITIZENSHIP may mean the uniform for some—the factory, the farm, the home, the office, the shop, the mine, the store, the sea, the air, the schoolroom, the pulpit, the laboratory, the throttle, the sick-room, the common task for others—but for all, it means sincere devotion to a way of life—DEMOCRACY.

At long last, it happens — the Senior Ball
Longed for — happy realization — remembered always.

SPECIAL EVENTS

• In every school career there are events which etch themselves into our lives. The first day of school—a favorite teacher—achievement in a school activity—commendation when it was needed most—friendships that hold true—and finally, graduation—and the threshold of the future. Thus unfolds for youth the magic tapestry of eager life.

"School days, school days
Dear old golden rule days—
When we were a couple of kids."

